Dr. Cristo, a veteran of both World War II and the Korean War, gave a most interesting and informative talk.

The Appomattox County High School Band, under the direction of Mr. Frank Coffey, opened the program with a musical salute, played the Star Spangled Banner and the sounding of Taps.

Ronald C. Spiggle, Commander American Legion Post #104 welcomed guests and the invocation and the benediction were given by Rev. J. Harmon Smith, Vicar, St. Anne's Episcopal Church. Dr. Mark Weatherly, Past Post Commander, introduced the guest speaker for the afternoon.

The Commander of Post #104 and President of Unit Auxiliary #104 were in charge of the placing of the wreath at the memorial.

DANIEL URGED TOBACCO INDUSTRY TO TAKE POSITIVE APPROACH

being made and the industry "cannot wish the problems away".

Referring to agriculture in general, the Congressman said, "In these days of conflicting priorities, it may well be that agriculture will have to follow the course of hard-sell public relations, in order to assure what was once taken for g - - - ed".

He told the growers and others present, "What you do is vitally important. What you persuade others to do could very well be decisive".

He said the tobacco program is "the most successful of the government's efforts to assist in the orderly management of commodity production". It has worked well, he said, because all segments of the tobacco industry have cooperated in keeping the program sound. Adjustments in acreage allotments, revision of warehouse practices and recognition of the competiveness of overseas markets have all played a role, he observed.

The job of alertness, he said, involves "retaining Congressional support for the tobacco program, combating a 'Trojan Horse' within the executive agencies and preserving our international trade".

Because American flue-cured tobacco depends upon exports for 45 percent of its crop, Daniel said he is concerned about recent trade negotiations in Europe which appear to give preference to under-developed African nations, Mexico, South Korea and other countries. He said the United States negotiators will have to combat this trend as well as the increasing tendency in some countries to increase tariffs on American leaf.

SECONDARY ROAD SYSTEM IN STATE ALLOCATED

cle miles of travel, and secondary system needs.

Approximately 50 per cent of the total funds apportioned for the coming year will be used for construction projects, with the balance earmarked for maintenance operations, according to A.S. Brown, state secondary roads engineer.

In a letter to local governing officials, Highway and Transportation Commissioner Douglas B. Fugate said the department's 45 resident engineers "will be consulting with you regarding plans for improvements within the respective counties."

"A review of our overall program on the secondary system reveals that a combination of the spiraling inflation and reduction in revenue has made a tremendous impact upon our improvement program," Fugate told them.

"We are, however, striving to continue with a balanced program of improvement. These allocations reflect a slight recovery insofar as funding is concerned, but costs continue to rise and the continued pinch of these circumstances makes it difficult to carry out a comprehensive plan," he said.
